CH-366
Patuxent City vic.
Public

Circa 1940

St. John's Chapel, Patuxent City is a small, frame front gable structure with lancet windows, a modest steeple and an enclosed foyer. The site is situated on a steep bluff about fifty feet from Prince Frederick Road. Also, on the property are two non-contributing resources; a one story stucco hall/bathroom and a metal shed. Six or seven mid-late twentieth century graves are located to the west of the chapel.

St. John Chapel, Patuxent City is a good example of rural sacred architecture in Charles County. Modestly executed, it retains the essential features and characteristics of other local examples including a front gable orientation and simple lancet windows.

Prepare both a one paragraph summary and a comprehensive description of the resource and its various elements as it exists today.

St. John's Chapel, Patuxent City is a small, frame front gable structure with lancet windows, a modest steeple and an enclosed foyer. The site is situated on a steep bluff about fifty feet from Prince Frederick Road. Also on the property are two non-contributing resources; a one story stucco hall/bathroom and a metal shed. Six or seven mid-late twentieth century graves are located to the west of the chapel.

The chapel rests on a continuous concrete block foundation and is sheathed with a metal seam roof. A cornerstone inscription states that the building was constructed by the Grand Lodge A.F. and A.M., Inc. or Black Masons. Attached to the main block is a gabled foyer on the façade and a hipped addition attached to the rear. The foyer has a single lancet window on each side, while the rear addition has a lancet window on the west end, corresponding to a modern door that faces east. The eave walls of the main block contain three windows on either side, symmetrically aligned. Although the front and sides have been re-clad in vinyl siding, the rear includes the original exposed German beveled siding. The windows all appear to be replacements. The building has a small round metal stove flue attached to the rear of the building.

Prepare a one-paragraph summary statement of significance addressing applicable criteria, followed by a narrative discussion of the history of the resource and its context. (For compliance reports, complete evaluation on a DOE Form - see manual.)

St. John Chapel, Patuxent City is a good example of rural sacred architecture in Charles County. Modestly executed, it retains the essential features and characteristics of other local examples including a front gable orientation and simple lancet windows.

The chapel was previously surveyed by James W. Clark who stated that the building was moved from a former site but does not give a justification or source for the information. Research on the chain of title reveals that the land now belonging to St. John's Church was once part of the right of way for the old Hughesville-Benedict Road. In the 1950's the road was straightened to its current location north of the church site. In 1972 the church formally acquired .23 acres containing part of the old road bed from the state of Maryland, Roads Commission. The cornerstone was placed by the Grand Lodge of the A.F. and A.M., Inc or Black Mason on August 10, 1940.

Currently, the chapel is owned by the African Methodist Episcopal Church which traces its establishment back to Richard Allen (1760-1831), an emancipated slave and Methodist preacher who had been mistreated because of his race, left the church and in 1816 organized the African Methodist Episcopal Church. Evidence suggests that earlier the chapel was occupied by a Baptist Congregation. In 1979 a group of volunteers transcribing local tombstone identify the Church as St. John's Baptist Church. However, in 1972 the property was deeded to the Trustees of St. John AME Church. By the time of Clark's survey probably during the 1980's the church was abandoned. Currently it appears to be growing as evidenced by the recent construction of restrooms and a hall to the east.

Architecturally, the chapel is similar to other churches in Charles County including CH-523, Pleasant Grove Baptist Church constructed in 1908, CH-505 Pisgah United Methodist Church c. 1890, and CH-309 Alexandria Chapel, all with a front gable orientation lancet windows and an otherwise modest design.

St. John AME Church stands 56' from the south side of Rte. 231, 2 miles west of Benedict in Charles County. The church faces north. The church was moved from another site and placed upon a cement block foundation. The cornerstone was laid by the Most Worsipfull Grand Lodge of the A.F. & A.M., Inc. (Black Masons) on August 10, 1940. The building is weatherboard and has a tin roof. It measures 24' across the front facade and is 36' in depth. There are three cement steps that rise to the double five-panel (oak) doors that serve as the entrance. The building has a tin roof and is gable-ended (North-South). There is a small cupola (enclosed) atop the north gable that houses the bell. The bell rope hangs down the outside of the building. There are 3 single-paned lancet windows in the west side of the church (4') and 3 identical windows in the east side of the church.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

St. John A.M.E. Church is the only African Methodist Episcopal Church in this area of Charles County that borders on the Patuxent. The church is now abandoned. It was moved to this site in 1940. The AME Church has declined in rural areas over the last twenty years. This church will probably be torn down as has been the case of vacant AME churches in Prince Georges and Anne Arundel counties.
